"We volunteer because we want to do something for others and give back to our communities, but we have to be in a good spot to do that first. Looking after ourselves is what lets us in turn look after others. I read books, listen to music and play video games. They can often help me get perspective or work through things before I put on my uniform again."
- young volunteer, age 24